The British Columbia Racing Commission, established in 1960 by the provincial government, governs, directs, controls and regulates horse racing in the province. It ensures a high standard of integrity in Standardbred and Thoroughbred racing, thereby maintaining the betting public's confidence.

The Commission, from its headquarters in Burnaby, oversees horse racing at seven separate race tracks, including:

- Hastings Park Racecourse in Vancouver
- Fraser Downs in Surrey
- Sandown Raceway in Sidney
- Kin Park in Vernon
- Sunflower Downs in Princeton
- Sagebrush Downs in Kamloops
- Desert Park in Osoyoos

The Commission's principal role is to ensure all race meetings are conducted properly and the betting public's interest is protected.

The Commission is, at present, composed of seven part-time, Order in Council appointees, who are responsible for:

- making decisions relating to the Horse Racing Act
- establishing race dates for racing associations
- overseeing medication issues, licensing and fees, teletheatre betting sites, and the distribution of monies from the Horse Racing Tax Revenue.

The Commission also hears appeals of the rulings of judges and stewards against licensees found to be in violation of the Horse Racing Act or the Horse Racing Rules.

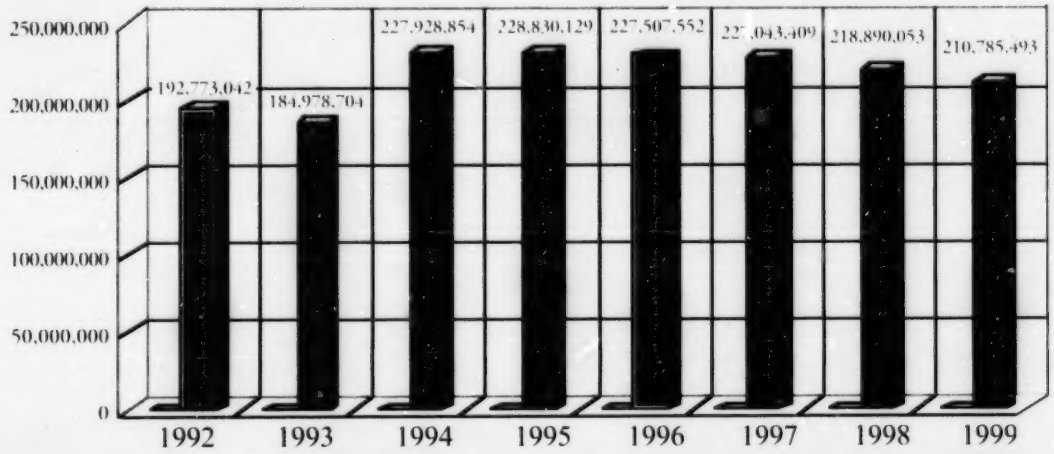
The Commission's 18 full-time positions include:

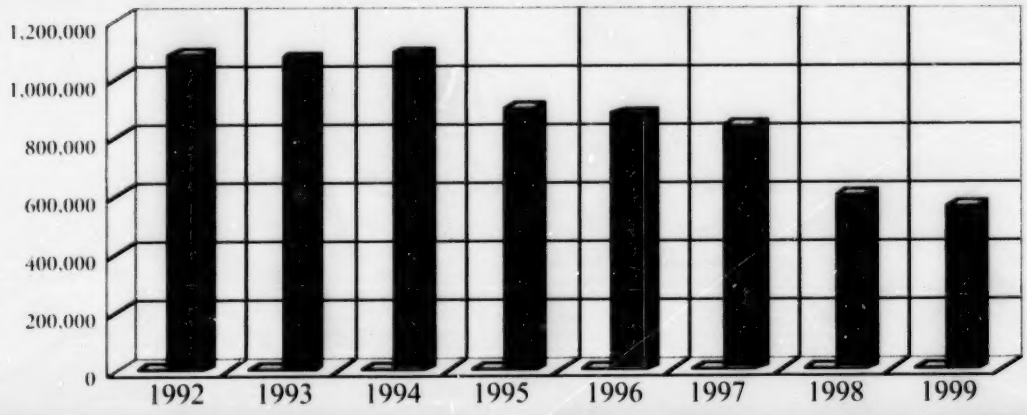
- management - consisting of a director of racing and a secretary-treasurer
- racing officials - including judges, stewards and investigators at each racetrack
- administrative staff - for reconciling wagering, organizing hearings and appeals, maintaining licensing records and recording ownership and placing of horses
- contracted staff - including accountants, lawyers, veterinarians and stewards for the interior tracks.

In the 1999-2000 fiscal year, the Commission oversaw a total of 3,549 horse racing cards at British Columbia's seven racetracks and 20 teletheatre sites across the province. These included 239 live events and 3,310 simulcast events from locations as diverse as Ontario, Hong Kong, Australia and numerous sites in the United States.

An estimated 556,600 people attended horse racing events at the seven racetracks and wagered a total of more than $210 million - on average, about 80 percent was returned to the betting public. The remainder was distributed as follows:

- approximately $24,873,700 to individual track associations for general operations and purses
- $14,386,074 went to the provincial government, which was further distributed as follows:
  - $3,776,144 to the Horse Racing Improvement Fund (Research and Facilities)
  - $7,341,588 to the Horse Racing Tax Revenue for awards to owners and breeders, and Commission expenses
  - $ 3,268,342 to the provincial government's general revenue
- $1,644,126 to the federal government





Attendance at live horse racing events in British Columbia continues to decline. In 1994, just over one million people attended live racing events. This number has continued to drop and by 1999 the number of people attending dropped to approximately 556,600. The percentage dropped approximately five percent from 1998 to 1999 from 586,631 to 556,600 people attending live racing events. Industry analysts agree that live wagering and attendance have been affected by an increasing amount of gambling alternatives available to the public.

Federal and provincial regulations stipulate that no more than a maximum of 30.8 percent of total betting revenues can be retained for administration, track operation, capital improvements, industry development, other management, development and operating functions, federal and provincial taxes.

All track associations in the province retain substantially less than the maximum percentage allowed and the bulk of wagering revenues is returned to the betting public in the form of winnings. Of the amount retained by the track associations, no more than 23 percent goes to the local association while seven percent goes to the provincial government and 0.8 percent goes to the federal government. The track associations use a portion of their proceeds to pay the purses, and the size of those purses is determined by each track in negotiation with the relevant horse racing industry association.

The Commission's powers are legislated through the Horse Racing Act, the Horse Racing Act Regulations, the Horse Racing Tax Act and the Horse Racing Tax Act Regulations. The Commission is also responsible for administering the Horse Racing Tax Revenue, specified in the above Acts.

The Horse Racing Tax Act establishes that seven percent of each dollar wagered on horse racing in the province is to be remitted to the Ministry of Finance and Corporate Relations. The Commission retains discretion over how the funding is distributed as set out in the Horse Racing Tax Act and Regulations. The distribution formula is determined in conjunction with representation from owners and breeders of the Thoroughbred and Standardbred sectors.

During 1999-2000, the Commission regulated activities at the 20 teletheatre sites located in 19 communities throughout the province and approved the expansion of simulcast presentations of racing events from Hong Kong and various North American sites.

These teletheatres carry satellite broadcasts of horse racing events from various locations within the province and elsewhere.

Teletheatres allow local community residents to participate in horse race wagering without having to travel extended distances to attend the live event.

During the 1996 - 1997 season, the British Columbia legislature permitted an increase in the number of approved sites for teletheatre betting locations from 19 to 26.

The 20 sites currently in operation provide the public with the opportunity to watch and wager on races run throughout the province and in other parts of the world.

The Horse Racing Tax Revenue (H.R.T.R.) is administered by the Commission to sustain the quality and activity of the horse racing industry in British Columbia.

The H.R.T.R. provides 3.5 percent of the amount wagered to be allocated to Breeders' Awards, Purse Supplements and Grant Programs and 0.5 percent to the Research and Facilities Fund, as prescribed by the Horse Racing Tax Act and the Horse Racing Tax Act Regulations. The objectives of the H.R.T.R. are to:

maintain and improve the quality of horses in British Columbia sustain breeder activity and maintain a high standard of quality of foal production increase sales of British Columbia bred horses to foreign buyers ensure that the breeding of high-quality horses in British Columbia is recognized and rewarded.

The present Thoroughbred H.R.T.R. formula (April 1 1995 to March 31, 1997) will continue until March 31, 2001.

In consultation with the Standardbred representatives, the Commission established the current H.R.T.R. formula from September 1998 to August 31, 2005.

The interior tracks in Kamloops, Osoyoos, Princeton and Vernon hold Quarter Horse races each summer. In 1992, there were 102 races, this increased to 106 races in 1994 and in 1995 the number dropped to 72. In 1995, 60 races were held while in 1999 there were 20. The best Thoroughbreds in the province compete at Hastings Park, similarly the best Quarter Horses competition is the Interior Circuit. As a result of the decreased number of Quarter Horse races in BC, the Quarter Horse breeders, owners and trainers face a serious economic challenge.

The Research and Facilities Fund receives 0.5 percent from the revenue that goes to the provincial government, as is outlined in the Horse Racing Tax Act Regulations.

This fund is used for upgrading facilities, conducting research to further improve racetrack facilities, and for activities designed to increase attendance and revenue.

Capital improvements help increase attendance and wagering, and therefore generate greater revenues for all participants and raise purse earnings for B.C. breeders and owners.

As of August 23, 1995, an additional one percent of teletheatre wagering and two percent of the simulcast wagering was allocated to the Research and Facilities Fund.

THOROUGHBRED SECTOR

All revenue allocated to the Research and Facilities Fund, which was established in 1987, is paid to the Pacific Racing Association. This includes 0.49 percent of all Thoroughbred wagering, one percent from teletheatre and two percent from simulcast wagering.

The Commission retains 0.01 percent of all Thoroughbred wagering in the fund for other Thoroughbred research and facility purposes.

STANDARDBRED SECTOR

The Research and Facilities Fund for the Standardbred sector receives 0.5 percent from all Standardbred wagering, one percent of teletheatre and two percent from simulcast wagering, for upgrade of facilities and to fund research initiatives to further improve the racetrack.
